BOTH SIDES ADD NEW FEATURE IN EXAMINING HARRIS TALES MEN

State and Defense Want to Know if Persons Outside of Counsel
Have Approached Them.

FEW PEREMPTORY CHALLENGES

This is Taken to Mean That Final Selection of Twelve is Not Far in Distance.

START MADE ON NEW VENIRE

Court is Not Started Until This Afternoon, Due to Delay of Judge's Arrival.

A new feature was added to the examination of talesmen to act as jurors in the Harris murder trial this afternoon. Counsel for the State first asked a talesman if he had conversed with any person outside of counsel about the case since he had been summoned to be examined for qualifications as a juror. The defense came right back at the first opportunity and asked another talesman practically the same question. Julius C. Miller who was passed by both the State and defense Friday, was examined this afternoon by E. K. Adams of the prosecution. He was asked pointblank by Mr. Adams if any person had come to his house, since he had been in the jury box, to talk with him about the Harris case. He replied none had except his son from Knightstown. Mr. Adams asked if Owen L. Carr had come to his home from Rushville and discussed the case, which Mr. Miller denied. Finding no cause to challenge Mr. Miller, the State wasted a peremptory challenge. When the defense came to John L. Williams of Noble township, the father of Elmer Williams, who is in the law office of John H. Kipfinger of the State's counsel, he was asked if he had not discussed the case with attorneys for the prosecution, and if J. Milt Stiers had not talked with him about the case since he had been summoned. Mr. Williams admitted he had conversed with his son and with Mr. Stiers about this trial. He was allowed to go by unchallenged by the defense. Attorneys were getting down to hard tacks this afternoon because their peremptory challenges were rather low, so low, in fact, that they could almost be counted on one hand. At three o'clock the State had five and the defense six left. This is taken to mean that a jury is not so far in the distant because the time will soon be reached when neither side can depend on a peremptory challenge to get rid of a talesman against whom a sufficient cause for challenge can not be found. No talesmen were examined before dinner. The court did not arrive until almost eleven o'clock, having been detained in Shelbyville to open the May term of court there. He called the twelve talesmen in about noon and excused them until 1:15 o'clock. Another special venire of twenty-five talesmen was drawn Saturday afternoon. The last of the first venire of a hundred and the regular panel of six were exhausted early this afternoon. Paul Harris was in court this morning and this afternoon. All afternoon he was surrounded by all of his relatives who have been by his side almost constantly. Paul's six-months-old baby was with him this afternoon.

the noon hour today by members of the special venire which was drawn Saturday afternoon. It developed that there were several deaf men in the venire, some who lived outside the county, but owned real estate in Rush county and others were incapacitated for jury service in various ways. Sam Kinnett, trustee of Anderson township, said he was building a school house in his township and he thought that enough to keep one man busy. His case was taken under advisement by the court. Many other talesmen had unique excuses. Only a few were excused. When court finally convened at 1:40 o'clock this afternoon there were four talesmen left of the original bunch called. It was expected the special venire of twenty-five would be cut down by excuses. Ellis Culbertson, Noble, who was called last Friday afternoon, said he had an opinion but that it would yield to evidence, and the jury was passed by the defense to the State. Culbertson Blamed. In examination by the State Mr. Culbertson said he did not see how he could convict on circumstantial evidence. He was challenged by the State and when he declared he would be prejudiced if he were to sit as a juror he was excused by the court. George McBride, Center, asserted he would be willing to convict on circumstantial evidence if he were convinced beyond a reasonable doubt. He said relationship would make no difference. He said his opinion would yield and the jury was passed by the State. "We pass the jury back and it may be sworn so far as we are concerned," said John A. Titworth of the defense almost before the words were out of Ed K. Adams' mouth. After a few moments the State challenged George McBride peremptorily. The next talesman, Joe Pike, Richland was excused for a reason which he gave privately to Judge Blair. E. A. Billings, Union, declared he had an opinion but that he could try the case without being influenced by it. He said he didn't know whether he could give a fair and impartial trial, nevertheless the State passed the jury and received the same answer as before from the defense. The State conferred and then challenged John C. Benning, peremptorily. John L. Williams, Noble, said he had no prejudice against colored witnesses or circumstantial evidence and was accepted by the State. Miller Challenged. E. K. Adams of the State reverted to Julius Miller, Center, who has been on several days. He was asked if he had talked to any person since he had been passed by the State and the defense as a juror. Mr. Adams asked the talesman outright if he had been approached by any of the defendant's attorneys or by Owen L. Carr. He denied that he had talked to any of these and said his son from Knightstown had been the only person who had come to his home to talk about the case. Anyway Mr. Miller was challenged peremptorily by the State. Henry Schrieber, Rushville, was excused by the court because of his crippled condition. William E. Inlow, Walker, said that his opinion would not yield readily to evidence and he was challenged by the State. The defense objected because the answers of the talesman did not show his opinion had been based on the talks with witnesses. He denied he had talked to any of Paul Harris attorneys about the case. The court asked Mr. Inlow several questions and when he said he did

MORRIS SCORES BIG TRIUMPH

New York Baritone, Who Will Give Recital Here Wednesday,
Outshines Stars.

AT RICHMOND MAY FESTIVAL

Although Hindered by Bad Cold
he Sings the Famous Arias in Stellar Form.

The many friends of Carl Morris, who will give a recital at the coliseum in the city park Wednesday evening, the proceeds of which will be used to lift the debt on the coliseum, will be pleased to learn that Mr. Morris was easily the most and best received soloist as the Richmond May festival which closed at Richmond Friday night. Mr. Morris is now visiting his parents at their country home near Elwood, and will arrive here tomorrow or Wednesday morning for his concert here. Tickets for the recital were placed on sale in all the drug stores today. Of Mr. Morris' triumph the Richmond Palladium says: Mr. Morris, with an admittedly bad cold, sang in stellar form and will be enthusiastically welcomed upon any return he may make; either individually or with a future May festival. No soloist from abroad has ever aroused a more long continued, insistent and genuinely hearted expression of admiration than did Mr. Morris at the close of his solo appearance in one of the great Italian composer's most superlative manifestations of genius. In this aria Mr. Morris displayed the capabilities of his really splendid voice. His declamatory nature called out that peculiar and powerful vibrancy which makes the baritone of this young singer entirely distinctive and removing it from the considerations that govern that of the usual voice of this quality.

CARL MORRIS. Verdi's "The Masked Ball," of which this aria is a part, while one of the least known to the general public is one of his most important operatic expressions, and that portion illustrated through Mr. Morris's aria—the accusation, threat, and later despairing admission of unfounded suspicion of one of the principals against his wife—is as just said, regarded as the emotional and musical climax not only of the book and the score, but also of Verdi's genius. Mr. Morris' youth, personality, brilliant vocal and dramatic talents lend themselves to the exposition of this operatic excerpt with superb effect and it is to be doubted if the aria could be presented with more éclat by a more seasoned vocalist. The fact that this singer's voice has all the technical perfection that the

RETURNS FOUR MORE DECISIONS

Judge Blair Finds For Defendant In Bankruptcy Suit From Decatur County.

NOTE SUIT IS COMPROMISED

Court Modifies Judgment in Case of Minnie Stewart Against Former Husband.

Judge Blair has returned four more decisions in the circuit court, thus winding up the business of the April term in readiness for the opening of the September term after the summer vacation. Judge Blair returned a finding and judgment for Minnie Stewart in her case against her former husband, Riley Stewart, from whom she obtained a divorce some time ago. She asked for a modification of judgment in the divorce case and it was granted. The court ordered the defendant to pay, beginning June first, the plaintiff three dollars a week for the support of their son, Cleo, and two dollars a week for the support of their son, Lowell. The children are to remain in the custody of the mother. The case was heard early in the April term. Judge Blair found for the defendant in the case of George C. Erdman, trustee in bankruptcy of James W. Craig, against the Greensburg national bank, to recover a preferential payment. The sum of $2352.67 was demanded. The evidence was heard April 26. The case was sent here on a change of venue from Decatur county. It was arranged by agreement between the parties that Judge Blair should return judgment for the plaintiff in the note suit of Thomas P. Keating and others against John Kelly for $325. The plaintiff recovered a hundred dollars. In the case of the Standard Metal Company against Matthews B. Clark to foreclose a chattel mortgage, the defendant defaulted and judgment to the sum of $112.10 was returned.

VERDICT OF $2,250 AGAINST THE C. H. & D.

Jury in Indianapolis Court Gives Damages to Estate of Man
Killed Near Glenwood.

ACCIDENT OF 1904 RECALLED

A jury in the circuit court has returned a verdict of $2,250 in favor of Joseph N. McCollum, administrator of the estate of Joseph W. Roebuck, against the C. H. & D. railroad company. Roebuck was injured while working for the railroad company, December 26, 1904, at Glenwood, Rush county, says the Indianapolis News. He was employed as a freight brakeman. Suit for damages was brought, and in January, 1908, a jury returned a verdict of $4,500. The case was appealed by the defendant, and the appellate court ruled that there had been an error in the trial of the case, and sent it back for retrial. McCollum first acted as guardian for Roebuck, who was declared of unsound mind after the accident. Roebuck died while the case was pending in the appellate court.

'JUDE' RAINEY CLAIMS RACE Is Defeated by Racer and Registers Protest.

"Jude" Rainey of the local motorcycle club has a silver cup coming to him if the protest he registered with the officials at the Shelbyville races yesterday holds good. Rainey finished second riding an Excelsior in the Tri-county race. He was beaten by Harris of Bartholomew county, who rode a Mergle racing machine. Since the race was for stock machines Rainey protested and will probably get the cup. Even with his opponent on a racer, Rainey gave him a hard run and Harris knew he had been in a race. Many local motorcycleists attended the races.

COURAGE NEEDED IN PRESENT WAR

The Rev. C. M. Yocum Pleads For Nobler Citizenship at Memorial Service Sunday.

MANY ORDERS REPRESENTED

In Matchless Address Minister Pays
Glowing Tribute to Grizzled Veterans of Many Battles.

The Rev. Cyrus Yocum pleaded for a larger and nobler and more consecrated citizenship, and for reverence for the gray-haired and bent-shouldered veterans of the civil war at the annual memorial services at the Main Street Christian church. The auditorium was filled. Members of Joel Wolfe Post G. A. R.; Sons of Veterans; Woman's Relief Corps; P. O. S. of A., and soldiers of the Spanish-American war attended in a body. Special music was given by the choir and large United States flags adorned the interior of the church. In the subject "Battles Won and Battles Waging, the Rev. Mr. Yocum paid a glowing tribute to the boys who wore the blue, and passed to later day problems: the struggle between capital and labor; the battles against political corruption; the war that is to be waged against the enthronement of gold instead of God and the temperance question. The minister drew lessons from two texts, one from the Bible and the other from Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, the former being: "Render, therefore to all their dues; tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor." From Lincoln's masterpiece he quoted: "It is for us the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who brought here have thus far so nobly advanced." The Rev. Mr. Yocum referred very briefly to the landing of the Mayflower and led up to the beginning of the civil war. He spoke of the landing of the Dutch slave ship at Jamestown Va., "as a dark hour in our national calendar." "Slavery at length spread its deadly virus through every avenue of the body politic," continued the minister until four million of God's poor lifted their manacled hands before heaven's holy altar and implored deliverance. But there were those who heard and heeded the divine injunction, "Proclaim liberty through the land to all inhabitants thereof." The voice of Garrison, of Phillips, of Wilson, of Sumner were heard in the van while others joined in full chorus urging the high behest of injured justice, "Let my people go." "Long and loud was the war of words until, believing the fullness of time had come, John Brown struck a blow for liberty that shook as with omnipotence the pillars of oppression's pagan temple, and though his body swung from a Virginian gallows his soul went marching on. "Defeated in the public arena, but refusing to abide thereby the South arose in mad rebellion and swore the nation dissolved, aiding thus to the sin of human chattelhood the crime of rebellion, rejecting the foundation stone of liberty, rejecting also that of union. The echo of that cannon shot aimed at the flag of our national life and liberty is it waved over Fort Sumpter rang through the land setting the heart of patriotism on fire. "Then came the partings, the whispered farewells. Mothers kissed their sons goodbye, lovers lingered loathe to part; children clung to papa's hands as hot tears furrowed furrowed cheeks; wives overcame with emotion, calculating well the hardships and heartbreaks to come, yet sacrificing gladly in patriotic devotion said a fond farewell and the sons of freedom were away to war, for the stars and stripes must be defended, our union and liberty must be perpetuated at whatever cost of hardship, of treasure or of blood. Boys, heroic and daring, refused permission of parents to join the ranks, stole silently away to follow the advancing columns to the front there to unite with them.

"Then came the night of the war the night of struggle. Brother leaped at the throat of brother; father pierced with the sword their sons; kin cruelly shot down kin and the greatest and bloodiest struggle of all ages was on. Would that we of the younger generation could realize for one moment the darkness of that night.

"Night, indeed it was. Yonder at the front the battle waged and ragged. The Southerner with American blood in his veins, with American intelligence, American heart and American spirit met his Northern brother face to face. Of course the conflict was long and hard and not until one was crushed could the other claim the victory.

"See yonder the enemy dares to invade the territory of the North. They meet at Gettysburg those two contending forces. For three long days the battle rages. The boys in blue scratch their battle line on Cemetery Ridge, the boys in grey on Seminary Ridge; the broad, fertile valley lies between. Lee and Lee's best measure arms with Meade and Meade's choicest. Now one, now the other gains advantage. Sickles advances from Little Round Top, a height he should have held and the enemy comes to take it. The Irish brigade is sent to hold the stronghold. The blue and grey meet hand to hand. The Irish leader falls with a mortal wound, but the stars and stripes, not the stars and bars are planted on the hill."

With matchless oratory the minister described the failure of Pickett, one of Lee's leaders, to cut the Union Army into two parts and thus route it and end the war at its high tide. He stirred the heart of every veteran who was so familiar with the things of which he talked.

"But morning came at last," he continued, "the morning of peace and with it the home coming. O, the joyous, the glad return. But some came not alas, and some to linger and die of diseases contracted from exposure and extremes at the battle's front.

"But the price was paid the price of blood and peace at last was secured. May God be thanked for you my brother, you of the coat of blue and the button of bronze, and for you my sister, you of the snowy head of many winters, for you one at the battle's front mid the screech of shot and shell, mid the thunder of the cannon mid the cries of the wounded and dying, and the other in the lonely home mid the hardships thereof and the heartaches untold, you saved my country and perpetuated its liberty and union."

"As these soldiers fought loyally their battles, met well their responsibilities, discharged nobly their duties so let us look to our welfare," said the pastor.

"Soldiers of the Republic, the battles of the present are identical with the battles of the past. The form of warfare only is changed. The moral and civil and economic conflicts waged in our nation are as truly battles as were the conflicts of Gettysburg and Lookout Mountain and Battersburg and Antietam. What are these battles? Where are these enemies.

"The conflict still wages between capital and labor. The laborer cries 'Down with capital.' The capitalist answers back, 'Down with labor.' The laborer argues that all wealth rightfully belongs to those who create it; that the laborer creates it; therefore all wealth belongs rightfully to labor and the capitalist steals the product of our hands. The capitalist argues that the laborer lives by grace of capital. He says, we build the factories and mills that employ labor and were it not for our grace the laborer could not exist. Thus they are continually at sword's points. They are enemies when they should be the closest friends."

Concerning the battle against political corruption the Rev. Mr. Yocum said in part:

"While I believe that politics is cleaner than a decade ago, yet there is considerable room for improvement. I do not believe that I need argue this point. The confessions of hundreds of politicians are sufficient to warrant the statement. We must lift public office from a political to a civic basis and elect to office men who will be public servants and who will not seek primarily the aggrandizement of himself. Public office is not a plum given by the people to their favorites. Too often it has been so. It is a sacred trust bestowed upon those who are capable and worthy to be held in the sacred name of the people and the Ruler of the Universe."

Referring to the battle against the enthronement of Gold instead of God he said:

"We have come to enthrone gold in our hearts and to make it our country's god. We measure a man by his money rather than by his manhood. We measure a man by the number of his servants rather than by the number he serves. But the present generation must dethrone gold and enthrone God. I do not mean that the poor man is greater than the rich. I mean that the greatness of neither one is to be measured in terms of money. Christ's words are just as applicable today as they were when spoken 'Let him who would be great among you be your servant.' Let us realize that Washington, Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and even Christ and embalmed in the hearts of millions because they served well their day and generation."

On the liquor question he said: "As the soldiers in the war of the rebellion fought no so much for themselves as for their posterity so in this temperance battle we must fight for the boy and the girl.

"I bear no malice toward the saloon keeper, and those engaged in the business. They are men of flesh and blood with feelings and emotion and hearts. But I hate the business in which they are engaged as the patriot hates the traitor for the saloon is a traitor.

"The preamble of the constitution states the purpose of our government is to secure a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity. Now it is obvious that the saloon is diametrically opposed to each and all of these purposes. What did you do with the traitor, comrade, when he was found in your ranks. You took him without the ranks and camp and shot him to death. So must we shoot the American saloon to death and bury it in the oblivion of the past."

A NEW MENACE DOWN IN CUBA

Dock Hands Add to Seriousness of Situation.

NO THOUGHT OF INTERVENTION

The Dispatch of Thousands of Marines and Half the Atlantic Fleet to Cuba Doesn't Necessarily Mean That We Are Going to Take Over the Island, Washington Says, but is Merely a Precautionary Measure.

Washington, May 27.—Conditions in Cuba appear to Washington authorities as far from reassuring, with more than a thousand stevedores and lightermen on strike in Havana, throwing many more men out of work by creating a shortage of imported supplies, and the negro insurrectionary movement continuing in resistance to the government forces. Despite the acknowledged seriousness of the combined insurrectionary and strike situation, it was authoritatively declared that there is no present intention to intervene, the dispatch of nearly 3,000 marines and half of the Atlantic battleship fleet to Cuban waters being merely a precautionary measure to look after the protection of American interests.

The state department has received a report of the battle between the troops and insurgents in the Guantanamo district Saturday. Consul Halladay at Santiago reported there was considerable firing, but that he had been unable, owing to crippled communication, to learn the definite result. Mr. Beaupre, the American minister at Havana, stated that there were rumors that an engagement had taken place in Oriente province, but that no definite information was obtainable owing to the character of the country in which the operations were being conducted.

The Cuban government is not opposed to the action of the United States in taking prompt precautionary measures for the protection of American interests. This is clearly indicated in the reply of Secretary of State Sangnully to the note of the state department notifying him of the dispatch of the Paducah to the Cuban coast.

If Commander Mitchell of the Paducah finds the situation on his arrival justifying it, he will rush bluejackets ashore just as bluejackets and marines have been landed in Central American countries during disturbances in recent years.

While authorities are eagerly awaiting news as to developments in the eastern part of the island, they are strongly apprehensive of the strike situation at Havana. The stevedores and lightermen walked out early Sunday morning in accordance with their ultimatum, according to a dispatch from Minister Beaupre. As a result of this an army of laborers will soon be out of work, furnishing an additional menace to the situation.

BIG FIGHTING FORCE

Uncle Sam Dispatches Formidable Fleet South.

New York, May 27.—Responding to rush orders from Washington to proceed forthwith to southern waters, Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, arriving with the cruiser Washington off Tompkinsville Sunday morning, almost immediately raised anchor and steamed for Hampton Roads. As the flagship was preparing to put to sea tugs arrived from the Brooklyn navy yard with marines gathered from all nearby posts and set them aboard the battleships Missouri, Mississippi, Ohio and Minnesota. At 2:25 o'clock the big fighting ships had left quarantine behind and less than an hour later were going full speed past Sandy Hook.

It is understood here that other ships of the line will join at Hampton Roads and that all will proceed to Key West, where there will be a mobilization with other ships already in Cuban waters. The officers who are to command them have been drawn from every post along the Atlantic from Port Royal, S. C., to Portsmouth, N. H. Every available marine has been taken and the men go prepared for field duty. The marines had been ordered to report in heavy marching order, and when they lined up on the parade ground every man had a Burnett-Mercedes rapid-fire rifle with him. These rifles are of the newest type used by the marines and will discharge 400 shots a minute.

Store Destroyed by Lightning.
Mt. Vernon, Ind., May 27.—As the result of being struck by lightning the large general store of O. P. Lamor was destroyed by fire with a loss of $15,000. The building and stock were partially insured.

Launch Party Drowned.
Washington, May 27.—Eight persons, two of them women and two girls, were drowned when an excursion boat ran down a gasoline launch in the Potomac off Alexandria Sunday night.

Don Davis, a negro, was burned at the stake in the streets of Tyler, Tex., after he had confessed to committing a white woman.

States Are Stirred Up By Movement To Better Roads

That such states as Missouri, Kansas, Indiana, Illinois and Nebraska are more stirred up over the nationwide movement for the betterment of public roads than they are over the Presidential Political situation was the assertion of Charles P. Light, Field Secretary for the American Association for Highway Improvement, after returning from the most extensive trip ever made in interest of the road movement.

Mr. Light visited large and small cities in the west, aiding in the work of organizing associations to be affiliated with the American Association for Highway Improvement. He insists that the West is far more excited about outdistancing the east in the matter of improved public roads than it is about the personalities of the candidates for the Presidency.

"I mingled with all kinds of people," said Mr. Light, and found them all talking not about politics but about the road movement, which they consider the most important campaign ever undertaken with a view to increasing the prosperity of the whole country. The people in the west realize that prosperity must be increased and they believe that the way to increase it is not artificially by legislation, but fundamentally by improving the roads of the country and thus enabling the farmer to ship his products, at all seasons of the year, reducing the cost of hauling, and eventually bringing the cost of living down to normal.

"The one thing that we are urging in the west now is skilled supervision of the highways and the elimination of politics. If the west will employ none but skilled engineers and eliminate politics from the supervision of the roads, a bigger return will be obtained from the millions that are being invested."

EAST SHORE STIRRED
BY BRUTAL ASSAULT

Lone Woman Beaten and Then
Dipped in Tar.

Ocean City, Md., May 27.—A gang of thugs, claiming official protection, dragged Mary Holzman, an unprotected woman, from her home in Ocean City, showered blows and kicks upon her face and limbs and concluded their brutal performance by dropping her into a vat of tar in the presence of her eleven-year-old son, who struggled to prevent the outrage. Never has Worcester county been more stirred than it is today over the action. Terrorized by her experience, the woman has quit the town. She is now being sheltered by Tom Jones, a negro, who lives out in the country three miles.

Although the officials of Worcester county seem to have given evidence that they would be perfectly willing to have the whole incident blow over without taking action they realize that this cannot be done. Sheriff Hanson, acting under instructions of State Attorney Johnson, visited Mrs. Holzman at the Jones home, where it was arranged that she should be taken under protection to Snow Hill, the county seat. She demands an investigation, saying she is the victim of defamatory gossip as well as of a most brutal assault.

Mrs. Holzman says the men who assaulted her were fishermen. She was known in the community as "Red Light," and resentment was aroused against her because of the charge made that she harbored colored men. She declares that there is absolutely no truth in the report and maintains that the offensive epithet applied to her is entirely unjustified. The sheriff declared that she had been treated worse than a dog and says the occurrence is the most outrageous that has ever occurred in this community.

BACK GIVES OUT

Plenty of Rushville Readers Have
This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them—

They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and pains;

Urinary troubles set in.

Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Rushville people tell you how they act.

Samuel A. Brown, 527 W. First street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, for I know from personal experience that they live up to the claims made for them. About three years ago I was suddenly taken with an attack of backache and it steadily grew worse. I could hardly raise my foot from the ground and if I stooped, it really seemed as if my back was going to break. When someone advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so and I was certainly surprised by their promptness in relieving me. In three days I was free from backache and felt better in every way. Since then I have procured Doan's Kidney Pills at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store and have seldom been without a supply in the house. Doan's Kidney Pills are worthy of the highest praise."

SWAT THE FLY!

Cleanliness is next to godliness, and self preservation is the first law of nature. Therefore swat the fly!

It never occurred to the American people that they need revive the 3-cent piece or the halfpenny. The few politicians who have started the idea argue the matter on local grounds, and beg the question at that.

Some one is spending a lot of money on this campaign, but of course this is being done by patriots who are immolating their wealth on the altar of their country without hope of return.

From the sounds from the political woodshed, some one is getting a spanking, but there is doubt which one is Father and which has hold of the business end of the shingle.

The women's vote did not make much difference in the California primary, but anyway the women got a chance to show their new spring hats.

The commencement day orators of the present month may succeed in saving the country and then see it lost in the political vortex of June.

Every politician of note wants to be like Abraham Lincoln, but in trying to be like him not many of them use the real Lincoln method.

Colonels Bryan and Roosevelt do not care who writes the songs of their country so long as they can do the bulk of the coming back.

If some of these campaign buttons could be used in buttoning up the spell-binders' mouths, business would have a chance to pick up.

$2500 is offered for the head of Outlaw Allen, but until he shows better judgment, it does not seem worth the money.

The English close up murder trials in three months, but perhaps the lawyers don't get paid by the day.

Mr. Roosevelt is said to drink excessively of milk, if so, his third cup of coffee will be rather weak.

Editorialettes.

May didn't make much of a start but we are strong for her finish.

We are making no comments on the fact that the chairman at the Democratic county convention Saturday had a brand new hammer for a gavel.

He didn't mean to knock either.

Have you heard of any city wagons calling around for that pile of rubbish in your back alley? Sneither have we.

Our idea of nothing to do is to select the variety of weeds which will adorn your garden this summer. It is hardly a matter of choice.

We must confess, Jimmie, that we know of no way to make these Rushville ball players hit the ball unless they practice up during the week at swatting flies.

And then think of the lives they might save.

There is absolutely no use to carry a rag to wipe your hands after holding on that last summer's hat to which the cleaner has been applied.

Sam Sanderson Says:

That he went to the ball game yesterday but that's about all.

We know a better method. Buy a new hat.

Our wheezes are gettin' rotten as the hay fever season approaches.

We really ought to cut this here but we must pause to remark that a Tipton newspaper which carried the headline: "Case of Limburger Cheese Spoils," should know better than that.

TEST ORCHARDS ARE MAINTAINED

Purdue University Experiment Station Manages Several Over States as Demonstration Projects

DATA BEING ACCUMULATED

A number of mature orchards in different parts of the State have been managed under the detailed direction and supervision of the Horticultural Department at Purdue Experiment station as demonstration projects. The establishment of a demonstration orchards has usually followed the arousing of an enthusiastic interest in the growing of better fruit, through one or more out-door demonstration meetings. Although the management of demonstration orchards is primarily a form of extension work, nevertheless, a large amount of data is being accumulated relative to the economics of apple growing.

Detailed cost records are kept covering all orchard operations, an unsprayed check plot furnishes a basis for measuring the efficiency of pest control, and the total yield and selling price of the fruit make it possible to arrive at the gross and net income from the orchards.

Demonstration orchard projects are now maintained at Logansport, Ft. Wayne, Seymour, Guilford, Borden, Worthington, Cambridge City and Lafayette.

KNIGHTSTOWN TO GET NEW CHURCH

Presbyterians There Will Erect a Structure This Summer Which Will Cost $20,000.

BID TO BE OPENED JUNE 3

Congregation Which Plans Structure Was Organized in 1823—to be Dedicated Thanksgiving.

The congregation of Bethel Presbyterian church of Knightstown will erect a new building this summer. The estimated cost is $20,000 and $23,000 finished complete. Bethel is the oldest church body in Knightstown. It was organized by pioneers in 1823, when this part of the country was a wilderness.

The building will be the fourth erected by the congregation, which has been very successful under the pastorate of the Rev. Henry T. Graham, eighty-seven new members having been added in the last twenty months. Eighteen thousand dollars has been subscribed for the new building and the rest of the needed money will be raised this summer.

The new church will be provided with a large basement gymnasium to accommodate the one hundred young people enrolled in the various classes under the direction of Hugh V. Miller. It is expected that the new church will be dedicated at the Thanksgiving season and that all will be in readiness for the celebration of the eightieth anniversary on December 24.

The new church is to be a handsome and imposing structure. It is of the Doric type of Greek architecture, which is a departure from the old style of church building so long in vogue, and a revival of the classic form. The church will be of two stories, with a basement.

In front of the building, as shown in the plans, are four large Doric columns of Bedford stone, back of which is a portico, and above the inscription "Bethel Presbyterian Church." There are three double doors, which open upon a foyer. On either side, in front, there are two high double windows, and three triple windows above the doors. Art glass will be used in all the windows on the front and sides of the building.

Bids are now being received for the building of the church and will be opened June 3. The architect is L. H. Sturges of Indianapolis. The building committee consists of John D. Maple, A. O. Morris, Mark A. Pickering, Charles M. Disk, Dr. O. E. Holloway, George Watts and the pastor, H. T. Graham.

TO BE TRIED SPECIAL TERM

Case of Zachariah Price Called For July 24.

Zachariah Price, tried once on the charge of killing Fletcher Cook on a farm in Jennings county, will be tried again at a special term of court in Greensburg beginning July 24. The date of the second Price trial was set Saturday by Judge Wickens upon agreement of attorneys. The date was set late in July so that farmers who might be called on the jury or as witnesses might not be inconvenienced in a busy season. At the first trial the jury failed to agree upon a verdict, six standing for acquittal and six for conviction.

WORTHINGTON APPOINTED.

John Worthington, manager of R. H. Jones' Greensburg Fair store for three years who returned recently from the West, where he went on account of poor health, will manage the ninety-cent store here, and will be assisted by Jesse Draks. R. H. Jones will take an extended vacation. Mr. Jones considers himself lucky in securing Mr. Worthington as he has made a success as a manager and it is predicted he will make a first class business man.

LOCALS DROP OPENING GAME

Connersville Spreads Whitewash on Thick Winning Listless Contest by 11 to 0 Score.

ONLY ONE HIT OFF COOLEY

Poor Support Behind Yazel and Richie Gives Visitors Good Lead.

One big inning—the third was enough to defeat the Rushville team yesterday in the game with Connersville, but the Fayette county team did not let well enough alone and proceeded to pile up the score and before the torture was over had pushed around eleven runs while Rushville was still trying to get some. The Connersville team looked like a bunch of kids but before the game progressed very far they were the whole show and had the locals looking like a bunch of boobs.

The defects on the local team were many and perhaps since it was their first game they should be let down easy by the "knockers" and given a chance to redeem themselves. One thing noticeable was the absolute lack of team work and the inability to hit Cooley, the Connersville pitcher. Cooley was really the direct cause of the defeat and was the whole works. But for Richie he would have been credited with a no-hit game. Richie got a single, the one and only clean hit made off Cooley in the eighth.

Yazel was wild at the start and in the three and two-thirds innings he pitched, passed five men. The first two innings the bases were full but he managed to pull through. In the third the grand blow up occurred. Tryon, the first man-up, got to first on an error by Gunning. He advanced to second when Yazel passed Coombs. Herman hit to Pea who fumbled and everyone was safe, the bases full and no one down. Cooley soaked a hot one to right field, good for two bases and Tryon and Coombs scored. Hensley and Kline struck out. Sample hit safe scoring Herman. Cooley came home a moment later on an error by Spacey. The slaughter was ended when Sample was caught between third and home, Spacey to Carter. Two hits, coupled with three errors netted four runs.

In the next inning Connersville annexed three more runs. Klenk hit to Carter and was safe on the error. Hollowell bunted and got to first when Heyl dropped the ball. Klenk scored on another error by Heyl. Tryon was out. Carter to Heyl. Coombs hit safe. Herman drew a pass. Cooley struck out; Hensley hit safe, scoring Hollowell and Coombs. Richie relieved Yazel and struck out Kline. Three runs, two hits and three errors tells the tale of this inning.

No more scoring was done until the seventh when three runs were made. In the last of the seventh Heyl got as far as third. He was safe on first on a poor throw by Kline. He stole second and third where he died. Jordan and Coombs struck out and Spacey fowled out to Kline. Heyl got as far as third twice. The other time was in the fourth inning.

Cooley pitched a good game for Connersville and at no time was he forced to extend himself.

Although Manager Miabaugh was greatly disappointed in the outcome

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess has the usual two pictures for tonight. "The Deputy's Love Affair" is an Essanay Mexican drama featuring G. M. Anderson. The other is a Pathe western, "The Price of Gratitude." It is a thrilling picture telling a great story.

The Palace offers the usual two pictures and a complete change of program tonight. "The Capriciousness of Love" is a great Northern drama. "The Rose of California" is an Imp drama. Both are said to be good pictures.

The Harris-Parkinson Co. will present for their opening bill tonight the four-act romantic comedy-drama "Two Americans Abroad," a romance of two worlds. It is a beautiful story taken from everyday life and very carefully interspersed with a bright vein of light comedy that keeps the audience in a good humor. Everything is simply told the effects are achieved broadly and strongly. The play has the ring not only of realism dramatically speaking, but of actual truth to real conditions of life. The vaudeville features that will be introduced between the acts are said to be above the average, and are equal to many seen in the larger cities. The company carries a feature band and orchestra of all solo musicians. The show grounds are located on the old foundry lot in Perkins street between Second and Third.

Reminiscences of SHERLOCK HOLMES by Arthur Conan Doyle Illustrations by V.L. Barnes

"Fortune was very good to us at first. Gennaro was able to do a service to an Italian gentleman—he saved him from some ruffians in the place called the Bowerly, and so made a powerful friend. His name was Tito Castalotte, and he was the senior partner of the great firm of Castalotte and Zamba, who are the chief fruit importers of New York. Signor Zamba is an invalid, and our new friend Castalotte has all power within the firm, which employs more than three hundred men. He took my husband into his employment, made him head

Neapolitan society, the Red Circle, which was allied to the old Carbonari. The oaths and secrets of this brotherhood were frightful; but once within its rule no escape was possible. When we had fled to America Gennaro thought that he had cast it all off for ever. What was his horror one evening to meet in the streets the very man who had initiated him in Naples, the giant Gorgiano, a man who had earned the name of 'Death' in the South of Italy, for he was red to the elbow in murder! He had come to New York to avoid the Italian police, and he had already planted a branch of his dreadful society in his new home. All this Gennaro told me, and showed me a summons which he had received that very day, a Red Circle drawn upon the head of it, telling him that a lodge would be held upon a certain date, and that his presence at it was required and ordered.

"That was bad enough, but worse was to come. I had noticed for some time that when Gorgiano came to us, as he constantly did, in the evenings, he spoke much to me; and even when his words were to my husband those terrible, glaring, wild-beast eyes of his were always turned upon me. One night his secret came out. I had awakened what he called 'love' within him—the love of a brute—a savage. Gennaro had not yet returned when he came. He pushed his way in, seized me in his mighty arms, hugged me in his bear's embrace, covered me with kisses and implored me to come away with him. I was struggling and screaming when Gennaro entered and attacked him. He struck Gennaro senseless and fled from the house which he was never more to enter. It was a deadly enemy that we made that night.

"A few days later came the meeting. Gennaro returned from it with a face which told me that something dreadful had occurred. It was worse than we could have imagined possible. The funds of the society were raised by blackmailing rich Italians and threatening them with violence should they refuse the money. It seems that Castalotte, our dear friend and benefactor, had been approached. He had refused to yield to threats, and he had handed the notices to the police. It was resolved now that such an example should be made of him as would prevent any other victim from rebelling. At the meeting it was arranged that he and his house should be blown up with dynamite. There was a drawing of lots as to who should carry out the deed. Gennaro saw our enemy's cruel face smiling at him as he dipped his hand in the bag. No doubt it had been prearranged in some fashion, for it was the fatal die with the Red Circle upon it, the mandate for murder, which lay upon his palm. He was to kill his best friend, or he was to expose himself and me to the vengeance of his comrades. It was part of their fiendish system to punish those whom they feared or hated by injuring not only their own persons, but those whom they loved, and it was the knowledge of this which hung as a terror over my poor

Gennaro's head and drove him nearly crazy with apprehension.

"All that night we sat together, our arms round each other, each strengthening each for the troubles that lay before us. The very next evening had been fixed for the attempt. By mid-day my husband and I were on our way to London, but not before he had given our benefactor full warning of his danger, and had also left such information for the police as would safeguard his life for the future.

"The rest, gentlemen, you know for yourselves. We were sure that our enemies would be behind us like our own shadows. Gorgiano had his private reasons for vengeance, but in any case we knew how ruthless, cunning, and untiring he could be. Both Italy and America are full of stories of his dreadful powers. If ever they were exerted it would be now. My darling made use of the few clear days which our start had given us in arranging for a refuge for me in such a fashion that no possible danger could reach me. For his own part, he wished to be free that he might communicate both with the American and with the Italian police. I do not myself know where he lived, or how. All that I learned was through the columns of a newspaper. But once, as I looked through my window, I saw two Italians watching the house, and I understood that in some way Gorgiano had found out our retreat. Finally Gennaro told me, through the paper that he would signal to me from a certain window, but when the signals came they were nothing but warnings, which were suddenly interrupted. It is very clear to me now that he knew Gorgiano to be close upon him, and that, thank God! he was ready for him when he came. And now, gentlemen, I would ask you whether we have anything to fear from the law, or whether any judge upon earth would condemn my Gennaro for what he has done?"

"Well, Mr. Gregson," said the American, looking across at the official, "I don't know what your British point of view may be, but I guess that in New York this lady's husband will receive a pretty general vote of thanks."

"She will have to come with me and see the chief," Gregson answered. "If what she says is corroborated, I do not think she or her husband has much to fear. But what I can't make head or tail of, Mr. Holmes, is how on earth you got yourself mixed up in the matter."

"Education, Gregson, education. Still seeking knowledge at the old university. Well, Watson, you have one more specimen of the tragic and grotesque to add to your collection. By the way, it is eight o'clock, and a Wagner night at Covent Garden! If we hurry, we might be in time for the second act."

Sacredness of the Cow in India. The killing of animals is abhorrent to the Hindoo. You may see the pious Jain, who carries the doctrine of the preservation of life to an absurd extreme, moving about on the Esplanade or near trees and fields with a packet of flour and sugar, in search of ants and other insects, that he may feed them from his store. In towns and villages you will occasionally come across the sacred bull, who roams about at will, and helps himself to grain and other foodstuff placed in shops as he pleases. He is a symbol of divinity. None will molest him; everybody will hold him in reverence. But in the case of the bull the reverence is limited to the one who, so to speak, is born in purple.

As for the cow, the entire species is sacred, and to kill it is a cardinal sin. Whenever the pious Hindoo passes by a cow, he touches it with his hand and salutes it.

"Life" 34 Days After Death. Some years ago Dr. Alexis Carrel, an English scientist, showed that the various organs and tissues taken from a living organism can be maintained in a live state for a more or less prolonged time by placing them in a suitable medium at the right temperature, and that such tissues may even grow for several days. His results have been contradicted by other authors, but more recently Dr. Carrel has achieved even more striking results. By taking the preparations out of their nutritive medium at the right time and transferring them to another medium consisting of three parts of the normal plasma of the animal in question and two parts of water, and repeating the operation at proper intervals up to as many as nine times, he finds that the connective tissue shows great activity, even as long as thirty-four days after its removal from the body.

Auto-Irrigation. Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, dismissed with a jest, at a spring luncheon in Los Angeles, a somewhat overwhelming compliment.

"Really," he said, "I hardly deserve such a compliment as that. Even if I could do what the comic actor proposed, I'd hardly deserve such a compliment as that!"

"A comic actor, you know, was talking about the spring planting that was under way in his suburban home. 'I propose,' he said, 'to plant onions with my potatoes, the idea being that the onions' tear-compelling powers will work on the potatoes' eyes, and thus cause the plants to irrigate themselves.'"

No End to It. Dubley—It's too bad the average man can't be satisfied with a good living and not be forever hungering for more money.

Wise—The average man is satisfied with a good living. The only trouble is that his idea of a good living grows with his income.

Shanahan is Close Second, Scoring 20 Points.

The Juniors defeated the Sophomores and Freshmen in the inter-class track and field meet held Friday afternoon at Riverside park by a score of 66 to 51. The score was evened up, however, when the Sophomores took the next four and for a time the contest was very close.

Griffin of the Juniors was the star of the meet, getting five firsts, netting him 25 points of the total of 66. Shanahan of the Sophomores was a close second, winning two firsts, and making 20 points. The time in all the events was rather slow. Griffin made the 100 yard dash in 11 1/5.

New York, May 27.—Both President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt took the stump again in New Jersey today.

A FATAL AFFRAY IN A HORSE TRADERS' CAMP

Whisky and a Woman Lead to a Tragedy.

Linton, Ind., May 27.—Perry Morgan, thirty-six years old, a horse trader of Indianapolis, is in St. Anthony's hospital at Terre Haute at the point of death as the result of an altercation in a horse traders' camp about two miles north of Linton, and George Presley, about thirty-five years old, of Paducah, Ky., is held in a local jail as his assailant.

Morgan was shot about the face and head, one of his eyes being destroyed. The affair took place in a camp of about half a dozen women and as many men.

According to Daniel Presley, father of the accused man, whisky and woman were the causes that led up to the shooting. He said that his son George had been living with Marie Morgan, a sister of Perry Morgan, but that they had never been married. Morgan visited the camp, he said, and tried to induce his sister to leave with him. A necktie, an ax and a shotgun are said to have figured in the fight.

Working Nights to Make Up Time. Columbus, Ind., May 27.—Ten days ago there was but little ground broken for corn in Bartholomew county, but the farmers are now crowding a late spring forward by working with lanterns in their fields at night and corn planting is well along. Some of the farmers who own automobiles have taken the lamps from their machines, placed them on their corn planters and, with the aid of boys with lanterns to guide them, are planting corn after night.

Masonic Home Movement. Indianapolis, May 27.—The grand lodge Free and Accepted Masons of Indiana, which convenes in its ninety-seventh annual meeting here tomorrow, is expected to decide on the site and to provide for the immediate erection of a Masonic home. The home is nearly financed, and in view of the sites offered by various cities the grand lodge undoubtedly will select a site at the annual meeting.

No Thought of Declining. Washington, May 27.—Senator Elihu Root says that he has no intention of declining the temporary chairmanship of the national Republican convention at Chicago. He made it plain also that he will not be forced into declining by any threat of a fight upon him by Colonel Roosevelt's friends.

Empty Bottle Gave Evidence. Fort Wayne, Ind., May 27.—The body of a man, probably twenty-five years old, believed from letters found in his pockets to be Joseph Freeman of Toledo, was found along the Lake Shore track near Waterloo. An empty acid bottle and terrible burns about the face and throat indicated suicide.

Sisters Claimed Remains. Laporte, Ind., May 27.—The body of William Kane, formerly of this city, who fired seven bullets into the body of his wife at Kalamazoo, Mich., and then sent a bullet into his own brain, was brought here for burial. Four sisters living in this city claimed the remains.

GENERAL MOINIER.
Commanding French Forces in Fez, the Capital of Morocco.

FRENCH GUNS SWEEP THE STREETS OF FEZ
Desperate Fighting Reported in Morocco's Capital.

Tangier, May 27.—A radiograph from Fez states that 5,000 Moroccan tribesmen attacked the capital and desperate fighting took place outside and inside the walls. The battle lasted thirteen hours. The French guns swept the streets and the assailants were finally repulsed with heavy loss. Four thousand French reinforcements are marching toward Fez.

French Taken Unaware.
Paris, May 27.—A serious French reverse is reported from the Moulaya river in Morocco. It is said that a band of Harkas tribesmen fell on 2,000 French troops in the dead of night and took them completely by surprise. The French troops recovered themselves quickly and took the offensive, but not before they had suffered a loss of 200, including some prominent officers. The tribesmen are said to have lost 2,000 in killed.

ROYALIST REVOLT
Affairs Swiftly Moving to Restore Manuel to the Throne.
London, May 27.—The condition of Portugal is again the subject of more or less alarmist dispatches. The Standard's Lisbon correspondent describes the country as a seething volcano of political corruption, petty tyranny, monarchical conspiracies and active preparations for an early revolt against the republic which many of its erstwhile supporters admit has utterly failed.

All Portugal knows, says this correspondent, that a royalist revolt with a view of restoring King Manuel, is imminent.

Other dispatches report serious rioting at Oporto in connection with the trial there of the royalist conspirators. Several persons were wounded by the explosion of bombs.

Woman's Fearful Plunge.
New York, May 27.—Mrs. Charles M. Heiden, widow of the late president of the Albany Brewing company, jumped from the eighth floor of the Hotel San Jacinto Sunday afternoon and was instantly killed. The general opinion is that an uncontrollable impulse due to looking from a window at a great height caused Mrs. Heiden to jump.

CUBA PROTESTS AGAINST FLEET
Gomez Sends an Open Letter to President Taft.
HE WANTS TO BE LET ALONE

Island Executive Objects to American Haste in Dispatching Vessels of War to Cuban Waters and Says His Government is Ample Able to Cope With the Situation and Will Put Down the Revolt in Ten Days.

Havana, May 27.—Some of the Cuban newspapers are greatly angered over the dispatch of warships and marines to Cuba, especially the sending of a gunboat to Nipe bay to protect the huge American interests there. These papers praise the letter of President Gomez to President Taft protesting against this action and declaring that Cuba was able to cope with the situation and that he would be able to put down the revolt within ten days.

General Estenoz, the negro rebel leader, has issued a manifesto proclaiming himself president and General Ivonet commander-in-chief. He has adopted the tactics of the late General Maximo Gomez by threatening to burn the sugar mills unless the owners pay large sums of money within seventy-two hours.

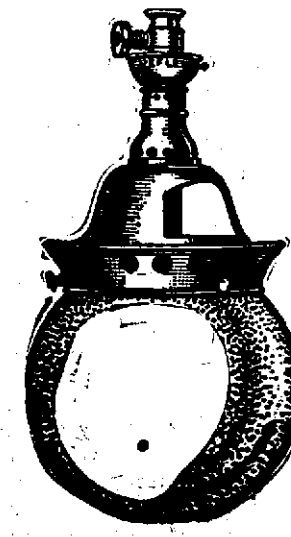

The negroes burned the barracks of the rural guards at Magriessillo, a village near Santiago. Reports from Santiago say that the federals are about to attack General Ivonet's entrenched position in the hills of Ramon De La Syaguas in the Guantanamo district. General Ivonet has 1,500 men, who are said to be well armed and supplied with ammunition. The total forces in Santiago province is about 3,000. Of this number it is thought that about 1,200, under command of Colonel Mendieta, are facing General Ivonet. All the Cuban revenue cutters have been ordered to Santiago to prevent the possible landing of filibusters from Hayti, Jamaica and San Domingo. The situation seems to be very serious, especially if the negro plan is to divert troops to Santiago and then start an uprising here in Havana, which is practically defenseless. Americans are hoping that some of the warships will come here.

Although it is officially declared that the rebellion has been suppressed in Santa Clara province, bands reappeared at various places on Sunday and there were several skirmishes with the rural guards. The rebels burned a bridge on the Guantanamo branch railroad. A train from Guantanamo to San Luis, carrying rural guards and passengers, was fired on by the rebels, but there were no fatalities. The passengers on the train say they saw three distinct, large bodies of rebels between Guantanamo and San Luis. Rebels everywhere in the troubled region are looting stores, but are giving vouchers for what they take. These vouchers are signed either by Estenoz as president or Ivonet as commander-in-chief.

OLIVER CULTIVATORS
Absolute and distinct advantages over other implements are what count, and the following are to be found in the Ohio Cultivator.
The work is done perfectly, because of the parallel gangs, always held a uniform distance apart, always maintaining full depth and never shirking when going through hard ground.
This good work is done with the greatest ease by the operator, because of the power lift for the gangs, provided by draft of team, and the pivotal sea bar guide which shifts the gangs, besides pivoting the pole to guide the machine. The Oliver is absolutely the easiest to guide of any cultivator invented.
It is easy on the team, because of perfect draft lines—therefore no neck weight or neck draft. Light to draw, because of short frame, and otherwise novel construction.
Automatic Balance Frame. The movement of one lever assisted by the team raises and lowers both gangs, and at the same time balances the frame.
For narrow rows, the wheels can be set 32 inches between the tires and still give ample room for guiding where planting is done badly out of check.
As a hard ground cultivator it has no equal. There are no springs or high hitch to draw the shovels out of the ground, which are, therefore, always hungry for their work.
It is a profitable cultivator for the farmer, as it does not wear out easily, never breaks, saves time and manual labor, and does faster and better work than is possible with any other.

WOULD PREVENT, NOT SWAT FLIES

State Board of Health Adopts a New Slogan For Exterminating Pesky Things.

APPEAL FOR CO-OPERATION

Swatting is to Go on Unabated Whenever a Fly May be Found.

The state board of health slogan "Swat the fly," is to be changed this year to "prevent the fly," and Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the board, is preparing literature and placards to call attention to the new field of endeavor.

"By changing the slogan, the board doesn't intend that the fly, when one is discovered, shall go unswatted," said Dr. Hurty. "On the contrary, it expects everybody who spies a fly to kill it then and there, if possible."

"But by teaching prevention we expect to make it unnecessary to kill flies, because there will be no flies to kill. There is no longer any doubt about flies propagating their young only in filthy places, such as unprotected garbage cans, unclean alleys and gutters, unclean back yards, piles of stable refuse, dirty stock pens, open outhouses where filth is deposited, and in other such places. It has been established by actual trial that in a community where these filthy conditions are not permitted to exist, there will be no flies. If we can make every persons keep his premises clean, we put the maker of patent fly swatters out of business, not that we wish to injure his business, but that we wish to do away with the fly."

"It has also been established that the housefly does not travel more than a few hundred yards from its birthplace. Hence, in the country districts, if a farmer has flies about his house, it is pretty conclusive evidence that he has only his own dirty premises to blame. It is scarcely probable that the flies came from his neighbor's house, unless the houses are close together. On the average, farm, if the filth piles are handled so the flies can not propagate their young in them, the farmer's house will be free from flies."

"In the cities and towns the problem becomes one for co-operation. The public health officials should see that the city's part in keeping alleys clean and garbage cans covered is well carried out, and should see that the part of the individual householder in keeping his premises free from filth is observed. One filthy back yard in a community will supply flies for three or four blocks, hence no spot should be overlooked."

"Prevention of the means of propagating the young of the housefly is the surest method of untimely riding the state of the pests. It can be done but every individual property owned and householder in the state must help."

Word has been received by Dr. Hurty that a crusade against flies has been begun in Crawfordsville through the pupils of the public schools. The crusade was started by Dr. W. G. Swank, public health commissioner.

not know whether he could give Paul Harris a fair and impartial trial, he was excused.

Had no Opinion.

Hugh P. Cowan, Richland, declared he had not formed an opinion and after a few questions, was allowed to remain.

Rue Miller, Walker, who has been in the box since Friday, was examined by the State again. He was challenged because his opinion had been formed partially by talks with witnesses and the challenge was sustained.

Wilbur D. Catt, Posey, was passed by the State and the twelve talesmen were passed to the defense.

John L. Williams was examined by the defense. He admitted he was the father of Elmer Williams, who is in the law office of John H. Kiplinger of the counsel for the State. He denied he had discussed the Harris case with Mr. Kiplinger or his son but later said he talked with his son about the case. He admitted he had talked with J. Milt Stiers since he had been summoned as a talesman. He was allowed to sit.

Mr. Catt told Mr. Tittsworth of the defense he had talked to Coroner Shauck about this case. He was challenged by the defense because his opinion was based partially on the talk with Dr. Shauck. The challenge was sustained.

SKIDDING, AUTOISTS' NIGHTMARE MAY BE PREVENTED BY DEVICES

Precaution Should be Taken Against Most Common Cause of Accidents, Drivers Say.

MANY DEVICES ARE OFFERED

Skidding is so frequent a cause of automobile accident both slight and serious that every motorist must decide on some form of protection against it. It is however difficult to select from the many devices offered the one which will be most effective and economical.

Anti-skid devices may be divided into two main classes, the detachable and the non-detachable. Steel chains, leather straps and removable steel-studded leather treads are perhaps the best known of the first class. All these are widely used, but the manufacturers are agreed that all detachable anti-skid devices are expensive in the end because of the wear and tear which they put on tires and machinery.

If chains be fastened tightly to the wheels so that they have no freedom to slip back and forth it, will be quickly noticed that the cross pieces latter might possess and still with the inestimable vocal asset of freshness would score heavily in favor of the appearance of last evening.

Mr. Morris has a powerful vocal organ of great distinction, beautiful quality and individuality and, in addition, possesses that indefinable attribute of magnetism without which the most perfect technique in nullified. The singer's enunciation, also, is clear, distinct and crisp and his performance of last evening was, altogether extraordinary, and neither surpassed or equalled by any other of a similar nature previously heard here.

In final response to a series of recalls Mr. Morris sang one of Sidney Homer's negro melodies to his own accompaniment, this composer being a favorite with concert vocalists, Homer's composition being given added interest from the celebrity of his wife, Madame Homer, the celebrated member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, Morris singing this out of compliment to these gifted musicians who are his friends and have been most hospitable to him since his residence in New York.

Gypsy Thieves Who Stole Money Here Come to Grief in Ohio Town.

ARE FINED $25 AND COSTS

There was considerable excitement at Overpeck yesterday afternoon says the Hamilton Republican News when a number of gypsy women took money from several men. They went to the home of John Reese and after he had given them something to eat they picked his pocket of $9. The gypsy men however, made the women return the money, but in doing so they only took back four dollars. They tried to get money from H. P. Ross, Matt Timberman and others. They were arrested at Amanda and taken before Squire O'Del at Coke Otto. The justice made the women return Reese's $9 and after they had paid $25 and costs, they were run out of the county.

WOMAN REFUSED DIVORCE

Knightstown Couple Are Not Living Together, it is said.

Judge Jackson evidently thought the evidence submitted in the divorce case of May L. Walters against Alva Walters, too flimsy to constitute a case, says the Newcastle Times. After deliberating upon the merits of the case for some time, he refused the decree and the two discontented people are still married, but according to the reports from Knightstown are not living together. It is said that Walters will now take a whirl in the divorce business on his own hook. It is understood that some racy charges will be filed at the proper time.
